THANKSGIVING'S ROOTS

The photo montage on our cover forms together two of the attractions of Plymouth, Massachusetts that draw tourists from all over the country and the world. The Mayflower II is a replica of the original Mayflower which dropped anchor in that harbor on December, 1620 in the dead of winter. The new arrivals, at once, felled trees and started building their log shelters as now Tisquantum, an Indian who had been captured by the crew of an English ship destined to be sold as a slave in Spain, had escaped after learning English. lived. Massasoit became a great friend of the Pilgrims and warned them of pending attack by other tribes. The Indians introduced the small band to corn and taught them how to plant the seed which banished famine from their colony. The bronze statue of Massasoit stands on the hill just above the granite canopy that shelters Plymouth Rock looking seaward. The bronze plaque identifies Massasoit as the protector and preserver of the Pilgrims as certainly he was.

Selectmen's Meeting

NOVEMBER 13, 1984 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL

MAPPING THE MATTAPOISETT RIVER AND ITS ABUTTERS

"The heart of Mattapoisett shipbuilding was the Mattapoisett River in the days when logs were floated down from Rochester to the shoreline", said Selectman James F. Huntoon as the Board of Selectmen last Tuesday sought to have SRPEDD use the 20 hours of service coming to the town to map the river and its abutters.

Selectmen Chairman John N. DeCosta and Huntoon met with Steve Reckhow of the Southeastern Regional Planning and Economic Development District to seek ways in which the 20 hours could be put to helping to beautify the river area. The Board cited a need to have the river mapped from Snipatuit Pond to Route 6 for the purposes of protecting the water supply from any waste product that might be seeping into the river; for designating abutters, both public and private; determining public access and what could be made into a public access; identifying obstructions along the river.

Huntoon noted the water source is vital to Mattapoisett, Marion, Rochester and Fairhaven. Huntoon also noted the area abutting the river has the potential for a lovely picnic area. "I feel we should protect the area for residents and for the future population."

Reckhow commented that perhaps the town could seek funding from the Massachusetts Historical Commission considering the historic aspects of the Mattapoisett River or from the state department of acquisition of recreational land. Reckhow agreed that SRPEDD could put together a map with separate enlarged areas designating specific problem sites.

Chairman DeCosta said about 90% of the abutters are private owners - "We don't know who they are and what they might have on their land." Huntoon added that the Fin, Fur and Feather Club and the Tri-Town River Committee has tried to clean up the junk in the river and a map would be a big help.

MET WITH DANIEL C. LEE, chairman of the Board of Health, to discuss the Selectmen's written response to SEMASS on the amount of tonnage of solid waste the town can verify that will be taken to the waste treatment plant to be constructed in Rochester in about three years.

Lee said, "We can verify 2,700 tons of acceptable type of solid waste similar to what we pick up now for when the facility will be ready for operation." He added that at the present time the town produces 2,450 tons per year - "we weigh it on state scales."

APPROVED A REQUEST for the Old Rochester Regional Gridiron Club to hold a Bonfire Rally at 8 p.m. November 21st at Ned's Point. Fire Chief Donald Wood and Police Chief James Moran have been notified and have no objections. A fire truck will be on the scene, the request noted.

Selectmen's secretary, Elaine Sylvia, explained the club has held these bonfires in other years just before the big Thanksgiving Day game. There will be parents chaperoning, she said.

VOTED ITS SUPPORT to the Old Rochester Regional Financial Advisory group's proposal to apply for a state grant to employ additional staff for the superintendent's office to include an assistant to the business manager, Andrew J. Santos, and part-time clerical help. Their function will be to research and seek grant funding for the school district.

Selectmen agreed to the proposal contingent upon not asking the towns to contribute any more than what would be normally budgeted and, if the project is not funded after three years, the project will be terminated and returned to the present operation. The Board felt it did not want to be obligated to fund the project after the state stopped picking up the tab. A 10% up front payment from the 3 towns ($5,000 each year for 3 years) of the $150,00 grant will be funded by a Marion benefactor, said Huntoon.

pital's proposal to acquire a mobile CBT scanner. Tobey Hospital Administrator Charles Kinney noted the scanner is a whole body scanner and that there is none in the area at the present time. He added that it would give doctors the option of scheduling a patient at Tobey rather than having to send the person out of the area for the service. "It would definitely be a cost saving feature", said DeCosta.

RECEIVED A THANK YOU addressed to the Town and to the residents of Mattapoisett from Justice Baron Martin for the donation of an American Flag to be flown over the Wareham District Court. Justice Martin noted the flag would be flown for the first time on Veterans' Day.

On behalf of the Tri-Town Veterans' Day Parade Committee, Selectman DeCosta, who served as the parade chairman, thanked the board members who participated in the parade.

The chairman read a letter of thanks from Cathleen Oliveira to the Police Department. She was grateful for the quick response to her call when her 7-month old daughter was choking. She especially thanked Sgt. Donald Moran, and Officers Kenneth Pacheco and Milton Heuberger, Jr. for their assistance.

Additional thanks was read from Harold Roeder on behalf of the seniors who felt privileged to ride in the trolley-bus in the Veterans' Day Parade. Many of them re-

NOTED WITH REGRET the resignation of Kathleen Hurley as recording secretary of the Council on Aging, effective immediately. Mrs. Hurley noted she has accepted the office of president of the Mattapoisett Seniors Club. The board will send a letter of appreciation for her service to the council.

NOTED that DeCosta and Huntoon will attend the Seniors' Christmas party to be held at 12 noon December 6 at St. Anthony's Church Hall. Selectman Frank Suzan was unable to attend Tuesday's selectmen's meeting, but DeCosta noted that Suzan will probably attend the Seniors' party.

Revaluation Notices

MATTAPOISETT ASSESSORS ANNOUNCE FINAL PHASES OF REVALUATION PROJECT

The Mattapoisett Board of Assessors recently completed reviewing the work of M.M.C., Inc., its revaluation contractor. Certification of the values prepared by MMC, Inc. has been granted by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and notices mailed to Mattapoisett taxpayers alerting them to the current valuations. The notices will also include information regarding the method by which taxpayers may arrange to meet with representatives of the firm at the Mattapoisett Town Hall.

The appraisal of all properties in the community was made to insure that each is fairly appraised in relation to each other and to comply with Massachusetts law. The impact notices will show a higher valuation than last year's However, the tax rate will go down simply because the total municipal valuation has gone up. The only way to intelligently test the new valuation is not by comparison with what was paid for the property originally but rather to ask, "What is the fair value of my property in today's market?" As defined by the courts market value is the highest price estimated in terms of money which a property will bring if exposed for sale in the open market, allowing a reasonable time to find a purchaser who buys with knowledge of all the uses to which it is adapted and for which it is capable of being used.

MET BRIEFLY with Attorney William Fricke who represents Jack Conway Realty. He said Conway is considering purchasing the Slye Foxe Restaurant on Route 6, destroyed by fire and now vacant, and proposed to raze it and enlarge the Pandolfi building next to it by making a two-story building with 10,000 square feet of office space. A U-shape parking area will accommodate over 50 cars, the attorney said.

He informed Selectmen he is going to the Zoning Board of Appeals first in order to obtain approval for the proposed changes and that the construction won't be detrimental to the area.

The new valuation is the result of a cooperative effort between the Assessors' Office and MMC Inc. Equalization has been their mutual goal. In the process adjustments of value were made where necessary to achieve an equitable balance between all property values. In the final analysis, each taxpayer will be paying her/his fair share of taxes. Those property owners who have evidence that their appraisal does not represent a fair market value may arrange a hearing as described in the impact notices.

Final tax rates for the Town of Mattapoisett will be established following the hearings.

Our Gemprint instrument uses a laser-photo process to produce a Gemprint "fingerprint" of your mounted or unmounted diamond in seconds. It positively identifies your diamond from any other stone.

Federal and local law enforcement agencies have identified recovered diamonds because they had been Gemprinted. And many insurance companies offer premium discounts if you have a Gemprint Registration for your diamond.

Senate Bill 1730 was tabled in April but Senator MacLean amended the bill and it proceeded to the House for approval.

The new wording for the bill will ensure that the $75,000 reimbursement to the district from the State Department of Education under Chapter 515 of the Acts of 1983 will be paid to the district in one year rather than over a five-year period as the law presently provides for.

Under Chapter 515, the school district will receive a reimbursement of 50% of the total costs of the repairs. The school district expects to spend $150,000, and the district's $75,000 share will be paid by a grant from the Governor's emergency fund.

Senator MacLean hopes for prompt action on the bill in the House, and, because he has worked closely with Secretary for Administration and Finance Frank Keefe and Department of Education Commissioner Dr. John Lawson, he expects the Governor to also approve it.

Amahl and the Night Visitors

HOLIDAY CLASSIC AT WAREHAM TOWN HALL

The Opera Express, a division of Connecticut Opera, will present "Amahl and the Night Visitors" in an afternoon and 7 p.m. performance at Wareham Town Hall Auditorium on Thursday, November 29. Gian-Carlo Menotti's Christmas classic tells of a young boy's generosity, a mother's love and the majesty of the three Kings. This musical tale has become a heartwarming favorite of audiences of all ages since its first performance on Christmas Eve in 1951. The one-act story recounts an episode in the life of a lame shepherd boy and his destitute mother who are visited one night by Three Wise Men in search for the newborn Christ child.

Under sponsorship of the Wareham Arts Lottery Council, the Opera Express ensemble of six performing artists will present "Amahl and the Night Visitors". The company has performed more than 350 shows throughout New England, New York State and New Jersey.

POLAROID EXHIBIT REFLECTS THE WORLD THROUGH THE EYES OF A CHILD

Street signs, cars, flowers, sunsets, playgrounds, horses, and, of course, the kids down the street -- all are part of a child's world. All are represented in YOUNG EXPRESSIONS, an exhibit of children's instant photographs scheduled to open at the Children's Museum December 4th.

Polaroid Corporation, sponsor of the exhibit, invited young people in kindergarten through Grade 12 to submit their own best Polaroid pictures for adjudication earlier this year. Judges included Marie Cosindas, photographer; Judith Berry Griffing, president of a Better Chance, Inc. and author of children's books; Suzanne LeBlanc of the Boston Children's Museum; Marcia Schiff, director of the Polaroid Foundation Project. Of more than 300 photographs submitted, 50 were selected to tour.

YOUNG EXPRESSIONS is more than a photographic display. In addition to the 50 selected pictures, it demonstrates how instant pictures are made and invites young people to look inside a transparent Polaroid camera. Another section of the exhibit shows children how to use a Polaroid camera and invites them to use working cameras on display to create their own photo project. Fun ways to use instant photography at home and at school are also featured.

The Children's Museum is funded in part by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency.

"In-and-out surgery has been part of St. Luke's services since the 1960's," explained John B. Day, vice president in charge of Surgical Services, "but at the SurgiCenter we've dedicated two of our 10 operating rooms exclusively for minor surgical cases, instituted a speedy registration process, and will be open some evenings and every Saturday so that patients don't have to take time away from work, or school."

Procedures that will be performed in the SurgiCenter at St. Luke's Hospital include cases that are completed in one hour or less and do not require general anesthesia or a recovery period. St. Luke's Hospital also provides ambulatory surgery for more extensive same day procedures, in addition to inpatient surgery.

"The whole concept of the SurgiCenter developed from St. Luke's continuing commitment to provide the best in health care at affordable cost," said Mr. Day, "and our new Century Building has provided the space and additional operating rooms to make this service possible.

"By being located within the hospital, patients additionally benefit with the assurance of complete hospital back-up services. On November 27 at 12:30 p.m. the playwright will discuss the women in his plays in Room 204 of the Group V Building located in the balcony of the main auditorium.

Then at 7:30 p.m. on November 27 Wesker will lecture on "The Birth of a Play: From Pen to Proscenium" in Room 227 of the Group II Building.

Commenting on his appearance at SMU, Dean Tish Dace, who has known the playwright and has heard him lecture at New York University, said, "In a couple of days on our campus, he could bring a large humanity and magnificent generosity of soul to our lives. His charisma as a speaker and person make him a great success on campuses."

Wesker is very well-known in England and on the continent, according to SMU English Professor Robert P. Waxler. "There he is considered to be the equivalent of Arthur Miller." Waxler will discuss Wesker's works, in preparation for his visit, in his evening course on Jewish literature on November 15 at 6:30 p.m. in Room 108 of the Group I Building. Interested members of the community are invited to attend.

Before turning to playwrighting Wesker was a furnituremaker's apprentice, carpenter's mate, plumber's mate, kitchen porter, pastry cook and finally chef. Then in the late 50's he suddenly became famous with a trilogy of plays: "Chicken Soup with Barley", "Roots" (nothing to do with the Alex Haley book), and "I'm Talking about Jerusalem".

Twelfth Night, one of Shakespeare's greatest comedies, is a romantic merry-go-round of love, with the timid Sir Andrew, and the high-spirited Maria, the conceited Malvolio, the Love-sick Orsino, the melancholy Olivia and the vivacious Viola all spinning from the mad capers that Sir Toby Belch plans and executes resulting in everyone falling in love with the wrong person. "Market in China"

AT THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM, BOSTON

Everyone goes to a market of some kind, but what's a market in China like? Beginning December 18 visitors to the Children's Museum Boston can learn about daily life in China through a new exhibit: "A Market in China".

After stepping through a Chinese arch, visitors will find themselves on a street in urban China lined with stands, stalls and shops. Here they'll be able to explore the similarities and differences between shopping in China and at the supermarkets, department stores, small shops, roadside stands and farmer's markets in this country. "A Market in China" will even have the sounds, sights and smells of a typical urban marketplace through tapes, slides and goods brought back from China by the exhibit's developer, Leslie Swartz.

With a master's degree in Chinese studies and command of spoken Chinese, Swartz has made six trips to China since 1976. She has conducted tours for the Smithsonian Associates and was advisor to Mayor White for his trip to China. A teacher for many years and a

"In this exhibit," Swartz explains, "visitors will be able to assume the roles of buyer, seller or browser by picking up a 'role card' at the entrance. Buyers, for instance, will make their way through the marketplace to select needed articles from among food, clothes, household items, school supplies and games. By using an urban marketplace as a metaphor, visitors will learn about contemporary and traditional Chinese cultures, its lifestyles and values".

Nearby, visitors can learn about Boston's Sister City, Hangzhou (pronounced "Hahng-Jo") and about their Children's Palace where kids learn sports, games, arts, crafts and sciences. Visitors can also play tiaoqi (Chinese checkers) or weigi (GO), see boat models made by Hangzhou children or look at the photographs of the city. Last year, Swartz took part in the first cultural exchange between the two Sister Cities. She spent six weeks at the Hangzhou Children's Palace observing their teaching strategies following which a representative from there, Mr. Xu, visited the Children's Museum for six weeks. The Hangzhou Children's Palace is preparing a parallel exhibit on the United States.

An ancient city, Hangzhou is still famous for its scenic West Lake, fine silks and fragrant Dragon Well tea. Marco Polo described this city as being "as beautiful as paradise".

"A Market in China" was created with the assistance of the City of Hangzhou, the Hangzhou Children's Palace and the Boston-Hangzhou Friendship Association, and was developed with the help of an advisory board. Some of these board members grew up in Boston's Chinatown, Hong Kong, the People's

In the words of one of the band's admirers, the musicians of Eritage have "established themselves as Quebec's most exciting cultural ambassadors". Appropriately, the band will be introduced at the SMU concert by Helen Gagne, cultural attache of Quebec and one of the band's most loyal fans.

On its home ground, for two years Eritage had its own television program in prime time in Quebec City.

The band's appearance at SMU is sponsored by Jean Saltzman, director of the Eisteddfod folk concerts at SMU.

Ticket prices are $4. for the public and $3. for students, SMU staff, senior citizens and SMU alumni. For more information call the SMU Eisteddfod office at 999-8166.
